Students Qualify for State Rally

Three students from University View Academy are headed to the State Literary Rally in April after placing first, second and third at the District competition February 23. Senior Samantha Armentor of New Iberia was first in English IV at the University of Louisiana Lafayette. Fellow Senior Arabella Jennings of Rayville placed second in Environmental Science at Louisiana Tech in Ruston and Junior Mia Ditta Marrero scored third in English III at Nicholls State University in Thibodaux.

Ten students from University View Academy took part in the District Rally at six different sites around the state.

The purpose of the rallies is to provide opportunities for students to achieve greater awareness of the importance of education and to develop their talents to the maximum by promoting competition and a desire for excellence. It's also a way of recognizing and rewarding students who excel in academic pursuits.

University View Academy is a free, public K-12 online charter school that allows students to embrace technology, flourish through innovation and seek empowerment to become their best self. The school serves students across Louisiana. University View Academy was recently awarded the Innovation Education Award by the Louisiana Association of Public Charter Schools and is headquartered at 4664 Jamestown Ave., Baton Rouge, LA.
