The Language of Music at University View Academy

Baton Rouge, LA, Jan. 4, 2019- It's a near perfect combination. An online public school using a sophisticated Web-based music program where there is no audio delay similar to Facetime or Skype. University View Academy is one of the first charter schools in the U.S. to partner with Live Music Tutor to provide students with the opportunity to grow using a world-class music program.

Currently, there are about 47 University View middle school students enrolled in the program and the goal is to expand to elementary and high school in the fall of the 2019. Hans Christian Andersen wrote, "When words fail, music speaks." Music expresses what we can't say and now it's a language online at University View Academy. We can provide a still or video of an actual session.

University View Academy is a free, public K-12 online charter school that allows students to embrace technology, flourish through innovation and seek empowerment to become their best self. University View Academy was recently awarded the Innovation Education Award by the Louisiana Association of Public Charter Schools.
