

UNIVERSITY VIEW ACADEMY

University View Academy Senior Named National Merit Finalist

Samantha Armentor and her mom, Cheri

Baton Rouge (February 15, 2019)- University View Academy student Samantha Armentor of New Iberia was named a National Merit Scholarship Finalist. She will learn in May if she is one of the 7,500 students nationwide who will receive the award. Armentor plans to attend the University of Louisiana at Lafayette in the fall and hopes to receive the scholarship and apply it to her college tuition.

Armentor is currently taking Dual Enrollment courses at University View for college credit in English, Speech and Psychology. She's also a member of the Beta Club. Armentor and fellow club members recently treated members of LARC (individuals with developmental and intellectual disabilities) with Beta Bingo games at Acadian Village in Lafayette to fulfill their service hours. The club members also donated Mardi Gras beads to LARC's resale store.

Media:

Michael Marsh 225-421-2928/mmarsh@uview.academy

University View Academy is a free, public K-12 online charter school that allows students to embrace technology, flourish through innovation and seek empowerment to become their best self. University View Academy was recently awarded the Innovation Education Award by the Louisiana Association of Public Charter Schools.